WUNDERSOUNDS

This Social Story is for Undercover Artist Festival 2023

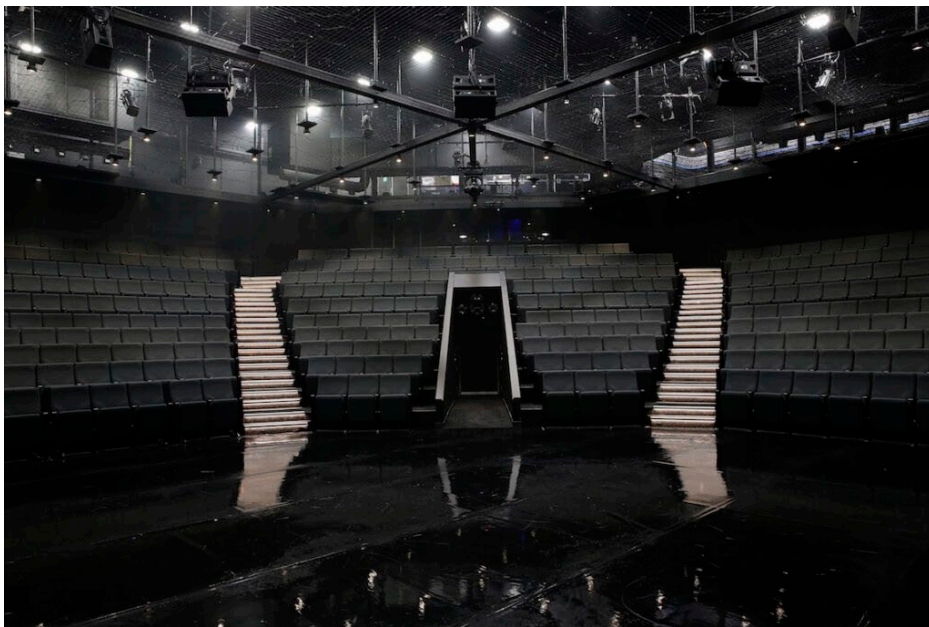

Content Warning: Use of haze, loud music, mild coarse language

During the show

I'm going to see WunderSounds. WunderSounds is a concert that I will see in the Bille Brown Theatre at Queensland Theatre. The show will be on stage. There will be music, instruments, musicians, singers, lighting and sounds during the show.

When the show starts, the theatre lights will dim, but will not go black. I can walk around the theatre and make noise if I need to. I can leave the theatre and go to the breakout room if I get overwhelmed.

This concert is two hours long. There is a 10-minute intermission.

About the concert

WunderSounds has seven different shows in one concert. There will be many kinds of music.

At the end of each show, I can clap to show that I liked the artist.

I can wear a haptic vest or wristband if I want to feel the vibrations of the music. I can watch a video that will tell me more about haptic vests. I can see it by clicking the link underlined and in blue here: www.youtu.be/lagYTXgXDho.

Aspy Jones

Aspy sings and plays the guitar.

He has four other band members.

Their style is rock.

Emma Tomlinson and Aspy Jones will perform four songs together that were written by other musicians:

- Chant by Macklemore featuring Tones and O
- Mad World by Gary Jules
- Yellow by Cold Play

What I will see

The stage will be set up with drums, keyboards, microphones and speakers.

I will see bright, changing lights.

It may look a bit cloudy. This is haze fog.

What I will hear

The musical instruments will make loud sounds. Sound will also come out of speakers.

During the music there may be people clapping and making other loud noises.

If it gets too loud, I can put my hands over my ears, and wear headphones. You can go to the breakout space if you need a rest and a break from the noise.

After the show

At the end of the show, the lights will come up and I will exit the theatre and head back into the foyer.
